

From the Editor desk – Asian Pacific Journal of Health Sciences (APJHS)

Greetings from APJHS!

Journal publication is a media to report and publish developments in health profession. Through this new knowledge, skill and experiences are shared with our professionals. Profession of health sciences in India has surpassed standard in this and has also increased research in the faculty. Prepare, start, improve and progress, is a sequence for any task. To publish a journal also requires valuable experience which Editorial Board of Asian Pacific Journal of Health Sciences (APJHS) has and specially the Executive Editor; which thus has contributed toward the release of its first issue.

Asian Pacific Journal of Health Sciences (APJHS) is a double blind, reviewed, open access journal. It is conceived to be a scientific platform for the fresh men in the field of health sciences. The APJHS will bring, with its issues, original research, reviews, opinion papers, case reports and letters to editor. Here an attempt is done to adopt an inclusive and integrated approach towards health sciences.

I welcome my peers to submit their manuscripts for publication consideration for forthcoming issues of APJHS. It would be definitely a privilege to publish a high quality research article which satisfactorily passes the editorial and peer review protocol. Papers can be submitted by visiting the journal website: <http://www.apjhs.com>. We welcome all your submissions on our outstretched platform of APJHS. I thank all authors, editors and reviewers for supporting the journal and expect all of them to actively participate in progress of the same.

Thanks and Regards,
Editor-in-Chief-APJHS
